MILLION CLUB TO UPBUILD CITY IS INDORSED BY PROMINENT FINANCIERS

Heads of Largest Banking Institutions in St. Louis Say Plan Is an Excellent One by Which the Benefits of the World's Fair May Be Made Permanent—Declare That All Citizens Who Have the Town's Welfare at Heart Should Become Members—One of Principal Objects Will Be to Increase Population to 1,000,000.

Before the last light of the World's Fair vanished into night the citizens of St. Louis began to consider measures by which the city could reap the reward due by reason of what they have done.

Strong in the conviction that St. Louis has proven herself to be a numbered among the great cities of the world, her people now promise that no time shall be lost in inviting all to share in the prosperity and resources of the city.

And while the best of many hammers can be heard at the World's Fair, destroying that which was built to last but seven months, far down in the city the citizens are at work on a plan to give to the city a permanent benefit and development of St. Louis which will be lasting.

In the days of the Fair's aftermath it is expected that many plans will be proposed by which St. Louis may derive more glory and profit, but perhaps the first was in the suggestion made by Francis J. Wade, president of the Mercantile Trust Company.

Mr. Wade proposed the formation of a "Million Club." This club was to have for its primary object "The Welfare of St. Louis."

In this general object is included a concerted agreement among all members that no efforts shall be spared to increase the population of St. Louis up to 1,000,000 and all else pertaining to the commercial growth of the city shall receive the aid and aid of the members.

The members of the club shall consist of the stockholders in the World's Fair and all associated in its building. Ultimately it is believed that any citizen who is keenly and actively interested in the growth of St. Louis is also eligible to membership in the Million Club.

David R. Francis, president of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, has been proposed as president of the Million Club, and there is little question that, upon organization being effected, he will be elected unanimously.

BANKERS FAVOR CLUB.
While the plans for the organization of the Million Club are still in embryo, so far as the idea appealed to the citizens of St. Louis that it is not believed many days will elapse before the club will be organized.

While the Million Club is not new, yet the magnitude of its proportions exceeds that of any similar organization.

Therefore St. Louis will have the distinction, among others which it has gained this year, of having the first Million Club ever known.

Regarding the Million Club many prominent business men over the city yesterday, and practically all of them were enthusiastically in favor of the organization.

Francis J. Wade, president of the Mercantile Trust Company, said: "The idea of the Million Club was suggested to me, and believing that it is an excellent suggestion, I lost no time in submitting it. It will undoubtedly do much for St. Louis and that is what we all want."

C. H. Huttig, president of the Third National Bank, said: "I am in favor of the Million Club. It is an excellent idea, and certainly the Million Club will prove of benefit to St. Louis."

"I would suggest," said C. H. Huttig, "that because of the great number eligible to become members of this club, an early election of an Executive Committee or Board of Directors be appointed in order that the club's plans may be carried out with the least possible loss of time."

Tom Randolph, president of the Commercial Trust Company, said: "Of course we should lose no time in reaching the members of the Fair. I believe that the Million Club is an excellent idea, and certainly the Million Club will prove of benefit to St. Louis."

A. R. Wade, vice president of the Missouri-Louisiana Trust Company, said: "The object for which the Million Club is to be organized is highly commendable, and I believe that every citizen who has the welfare of St. Louis at heart should become a member of the Million Club."

John W. Wade, president of the Mississippi Valley Trust Company, said: "Now is the time for St. Louis to profit by what it has done, and any movement such as this is certainly to be commended and aided."

FAIR OFFICIALS WILL AID.
One of the first steps to be taken is to have a list of names which is to be inscribed "Million Club." These names are to be worn by members of the club, wherever they may go, and will serve not only to identify them as members of the organization, but will do much toward advertising St. Louis.

While it is in favor of the Million Club, and if its other duties permit, will accept the position of president of the club, the officials of the World's Fair are not inclined to express an opinion regarding it, contending that it is an organization to be formed entirely of citizens of St. Louis not connected with the Fair, and while they will do all in their power to aid the organization, the credit of the organization of the club should be the citizens.

For this reason, along the officials of the Fair are loath to appear in the light of taking a leading part in the promoting of the Million Club, which is organized all connected with the Fair will be found among those who attend its sessions and serve on its committees.

Additional object to gain in Washington. They want additional allowances for their offices. Mr. Harris has already secured all he asked, and Mr. Akins, it is understood, expects similar generosity from Secretary Sharr. Harris gets six new clerks at $500 a year and increases of $100 a year each in nineteen cases. He also gets an allowance for extras during the holidays.

A choice lot of diamond rings, pendants and watches, solid gold and silver, filled cases, at very low prices. Dunn's, 912 Franklin.

SEVERE WINTER
WEATHER
FOR ST. LOUIS.

The Weather Bureau Sends Out a Warning of Intense Cold Coming from the West.

OFFICIAL FORECAST OF COMING COLD WAVE!
"Unsettled weather Saturday, with snow showers to night. Decidedly colder, with a cold wave, brisk and high north winds, with a minimum temperature of about 20 degrees or colder to-night."

A cold wave, accompanied by a drizzle, and according to the local weather forecast, to bring with it the first snow of the season in St. Louis, began to make itself felt in a preliminary way at 1 o'clock this morning.

It grew cold rapidly, and the wind-driven drizzle made it seem colder than it was.

The cold weather came from the west, where they are having the coldest weather and the deepest snow of the season.

In Nebraska the temperature dropped as low as 16 degrees above zero, and up in the Northwest they were having worse than zero weather. The coldest point was Prince Albert, Canada, where the thermometer showed a record of 25 degrees below zero.

There will be nothing like either of these marks reached in St. Louis as a result of the present cold spell, but it is expected that people will wipe the frost off their mercury glass tubes this morning. A gigantic cold weather event which will add St. Louisans to withstand the cold is announced for today. A big sale of warm suits and overcoats at St. Louis' Greatest Clothing Store, The Globe, Seventh and Franklin avenue, 2-6 for $15 Suits and Overcoats; 7-9 for $12 Suits and Overcoats; also a big sale of ladies' and girls' warm coats. It's the greatest money-saving event of the year. The Globe is open to-night till 10 o'clock.

COUNTRY EDITORS ARE TEMPTED

Offers to Pay for Favorable Editorial Mention of Senatorial Candidate.

INCLOSURE AVAILABLE MATTER.

Indignant Newspapermen Send Letters Posthaste to Friends in St. Louis—Senatorial Timber Scarce.

If all the senatorial candidates follow the lead set by former National Committeeman R. C. Kerens, editors of country Republican newspapers may soon be living in clover, sending out "advertising" bills for the finest sort of editorial mentions and increasing their circulation by at least the number of aspirants to the coveted honor.

Within the last week the Republican editors have received a letter signed by R. W. Hampton, editor of the Kingston Mercury, who is working on a salary as manager of the Kerens "literary bureau" at the palatial suite on the top floor of the Planters Hotel.

After calling attention to the inclosure for subscription, the next paragraph reads as follows:

If you have not already done so, please run such editorial mention of Mr. Kerens's candidacy for the United States Senate as you can. SENATORIAL TIMBER SCARCE.
Colonel Kerens gave out an interview a few days ago, in which he said that he would spend all the money necessary for legitimate expenses. Editors are evidently considering a legitimate expense, the fact that this letter to weak-kneed and purchasable country editors closed with the statement that they might depend on hearing from the latter is considered a fascinating bait.

Efforts to get out more senatorial timber have not met much success. While there are few men who would refuse the offer if it were made, they are not realizing that conditions at this time are not propitious for getting into such a big field. Efforts to secure the services of such well-known men as Colonel Wells H. Bloodgood, Dr. P. Dwyer, Charles Nagel and Selden P. Spencer of St. Louis, Major William Warner and Gardner Lathrop of Kansas City, and John H. Bothwell of Sealia have fallen to the ground.
